Customer Reviews

I am not a Christian (nor do I belong to any other religion) yet I listen to Joel Osteen's sermons all the time. Why? Because what he says coincides with the latest findings in Quantum Mechanics, Superstring Theory, Unified Field Theory. M-Theory. Etc. In other words, it's the truth THAT CAN BE VERIFIED via personal experience AS WELL AS laboratory experiments, mathematic models, and scientific observations. You can verify what Joel says by doing what he suggested then see for yourself if it is true. The lab experiment that verifies what Joel said is called the Double Slit Experiment, which shows that your belief causes material things to come into existence. The mathematical model that describes the universal force we call God is called the Lagrangian of the Unified Field. Scientific observations are being conducted using powerful instruments such as the Large Hadron Collider to verify all those theories. It's interesting that those who criticize Joel can only cite the Bible, more specifically, their interpretation of the Bible--they can't prove why they think Joel is wrong. Despite the fact that I am not a Christian, I have personally felt the love of God on two separate occasions. What did it feel like? It felt like an overwhelming feeling of acceptance and love via my heart--a feeling of, how can I describe it, everything is going to be ok....very comforting. At the time I experienced this, I dismissed it as just some random feeling I had that had no bearing in my physical reality. Later, I triumphed over what I thought was the end of my luck. But I still dismissed it as a random feeling--so what!
